Dr. King was a brave leader in the civil rights movement. He spoke up against segregation and helped change the laws of the USA. Mahatma Gandhi was a brave leader who spoke up against British rules and helped India have freedom. These leaders show us that if we have the courage we can change our community or the world and change the wrongs into rights.

At Arlington Traditional School (ATS) we learn about good citizenship and character building. If someone is not fair we should not wait for others to speak up for us, we should do it ourselves. But, it can be hard so we need to be brave. We cannot worry about being alone and we have to know that change can happen slowly. So we have to ask our community to help us and get the support of our parents, siblings, teachers, principals, and friends to make change happen.
